

James Smithson:

The Smithsonian's Mysterious Founder

With Mary Ruane

The Smithsonian Institution, the largest Museum in the World today owes its existence to James Smithson. A short talk on its little unknown Founder, a British Scientist who lived from 1765 - 1829 and was an illegitimate child of the 1st Duke of Northumberland.

